EXECUTION OF RUSS EMPEROR IS CONFIRMED

Berlin Newspaper Claims To Have Received Account of Last Hours

COLLAPSED BUT WAS PLACED AGAINST POST AND EXECUTED

Last Hours Spent With Priest and Writing
Several Letters.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Amsterdam, July 31.—Given two hours in which to prepare for the end, Nicholas Romanoff, former Russian emperor, was taken out by his executioners in a state of such collapse that it was necessary to prop him up against a post, says the Lokai Anzeiger of Berlin, which claims to have received from a high Russian personage an account of the emperor's last hours.

Nicholas was awakened at 5 o'clock on the morning of the day of his execution by a patrol of non-commissioned officers and six men.

He was told to dress and was then taken to a room where the decision of the soviet council was communicated to him. He was informed the execution would be carried out in two hours.

The former emperor, it is added, received the announcement of the sentence of death with great calmness. He returned to his bed room and collapsed in a chair. After a few minutes he asked for a priest with whom he was allowed to remain unattended. Subsequently he wrote several letters.

When the escort arrived to take him to the place of execution, Nicholas attempted to rise from his chair but was not able. The priest and a soldier were obliged to help him get to his feet. The condemned man descended the stairs with difficulty and once he fell down.

As he was unable to stand without support when the place of execution was reached, he was propped against a post. He raised his hands and seemed to be trying to speak but the rifles spoke sharply and he fell dead.

MAY NOT ESTABLISH ONE CENT FARE FOR SOLDIERS ON LEAVE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, July 31.—One cent fare for all soldiers on leave probably will not be established by the railroad administration, officials said today, because it is believed this would result in crowding trains in camp districts beyond limits of the ability of passenger resources.

A number of members of congress have urged this proposal. A special rate of one cent a mile now is allowed soldiers on furlough with special certificates from commanding officers. Nearly three million application blanks for this rate have been issued and military authorities have asked for more.

TO TAX EXPENDITURES ON NON-ESSENTIAL AND ALSO ALL LUXURIES

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, July 31.—Taxes on luxuries and non-essential expenditures came up for discussion today before the house ways and means committee, which is framing the new $3,000,000,000 revenue bill. Suggestions for such taxes were recently laid before the committee by the treasury department.

That the treasury department suggestions will not be adopted as made was indicated yesterday when the committee tentatively agreed upon a tax of ten per cent on gross sales of manufacturers, producers and importers of automobiles, cosmetics, patent medicines, cameras, gramophones, sporting goods and similar articles. The treasury department had recommended a tax of 20 per cent.

BOLESHEVSKI REGIME NEAR END.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, July 31.—Information reaching Stockholm, says the correspondent of the Times there, shows that the Bolshevik regime has come to the end of its tether and that the Russian masses—workmen and peasants—are about to rise in arms against Bolshevik tyranny.

A LENGTHY FLIGHT.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Paris, July 31.—Two aviators are reported to have made a flight from Paris to St. Nazaire and return in five hours and ten minutes. This time included a stop of three hours of an hour at St. Nazaire. The distance during the round trip was about 475 miles.

OBJECT IS TO KILL AS MANY AS POSSIBLE

Gen. March Says That Is the Sole Object of Both Allies and Germans

ANNOUNCE RAINBOW DIVISION PARTICIPATED IN FIGHTING

In the Soissons-Rheims Salient During the Present Offensive

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, July 31.—The battle in the Aisne-Marne salient has developed into a life-and-death struggle between the opposing forces. More limited objectives the Germans may have had in launching their attack at Rheims or for which General Foch may have aimed in his counter-thrust, have been submerged in a greater struggle, the object of which on each side is the destruction of opposing army.

This interpretation of the battle was formally presented today by General March, chief of staff, in his mid-week conference with newspaper correspondents. Whatever was the original German purpose or the hopes that governed the allied counter blow, he said, it is now perfectly evident that they have been set aside. The object of each army now is the other army; each is seeking to kill as many as possible.

In making this announcement, General March frankly admitted that the German resistance in holding apart the jaws of the salient had frustrated any hope of bagging any considerable portion of the German armies in the salient.

In two weeks time, he pointed out, the enemy has had ample time to withdraw his advanced divisions and to perfect his defensive positions along the flattened front now established.

General March's statement was accepted as explaining reports that the Germans have concentrated nearly a million men on this narrow front and are disclosing the reason for the terrific fighting in which American forces have been engaged in the center of the battlefield, where losses have not served to divert either side from the struggle for critical positions.

The Americans hold the apex of the allied drive, the vital point on which the outcome of the struggle may hinge, and the fury of German counter-attacks is accounted for by this fact. The appearance of the all-American (Rainbow) division the 42nd at this point was disclosed today.

Washington, July 31.—The sole object of the allies and the Germans in the Soissons-Rheims salient now is to kill as many men as possible, General March, chief of staff said today at his semi-weekly conference with newspaper correspondents. Whatever objective either side had at the beginning, the general said, has been submerged by developments in the fighting.

General March pointed out that the salient has been greatly flattened, thus virtually dissipating any hopes of the allies bagging large numbers of the enemy. The German withdrawals since last Saturday, he added, has reduced the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5.)

WILL SELL PLANT AT PUBLIC AUCTION

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Toledo, July 31.—The power plant of the Anguize power company at Defiance, will be sold at public auction August 31, at the Defiance court house as a result of the foreclosure of a mortgage held by the Guaranty Trust company of New York. The mortgage was for $350,000, with accrued interest amounting to $153,590.42. The plant consists of a huge waterpower station two miles south of Defiance, and it supplies more than fifty northwestern Ohio towns and several interurban railway lines with electricity.

THE "HUNGER STONE" PREDICTING FAMINE HAS BECOME VISIBLE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Amsterdam, July 20.—The famous "hunger stone" in the river Elbe near Tetschen which, according to popular belief in Germany, predicts a famine when seen is now visible for the first time since the beginning of the war.

The stone lies in the bed of the river and has never been visible save at exceptionally low tide. On the stone is chiseled in old German: "When ye see me, ye will weep."

BROWNED IN OIL TANK

East Liverpool, July 31.—After an all-night search, the body of Jennings Metzger, aged 18, was found in two feet of oil at the bottom of a tank on a farm near Wellsville. He was drowned, it is believed, after being overcome by gas fumes escaping from the tank.

TURKEY'S DEFECTION WOULD HASTEN CONFLICT'S END, SMASH GERMANY'S AMBITIOUS MITTELEUROPA DREAM

Southern and western Europe before Germany forced Russia and Roumania to acquiesce in alteration of map

If reports coming in a round-about way from Constantinople are true, and the long expected break between Turkey and Germany has materialized, the allies may hope that the war's end has thereby been brought appreciably nearer and that Germany's Mitteleuropa dream has been smashed.

Turkey is offended because Bulgaria will get the bulk of the spoils of war in the Balkans if the central powers win. Turkey wanted a slice of territory up along the Black sea and her ambition was thwarted by Germany.

With Turkey deserting the Teutonic empires the allies would have much easier access to attack Austria-Hungary from the south. In fact, with Turkey out of the war, Serbia might be restored much earlier than otherwise.

FIELD MARSHAL VON EICHORN, GERMAN COMMANDER IN THE UKRAINE, KILLED BY EXPLOSION OF BOMB AT KIEV TUESDAY.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Amsterdam, July 31.—Field Marshal von Eichorn, the German commander in the Ukraine and his adjutant were seriously wounded by a bomb in Kiev Tuesday, says an official announcement received here from the Ukrainian capital.

The bomb was thrown at the men while they were driving to their headquarters from the Casino. The field marshal's adjutant is named Captain von Dressler.

The bomb which wounded the field marshal and the adjutant was thrown from a cab which drove close to their carriage as they were approaching the field marshal's residence.

The assassin and the cab driver have been arrested.

A late message from Kiev announces that Field Marshal von Eichorn and Captain von Dressler died last night.

It has been established, the telegram declares, that the crime originated with the social revolutionists in Moscow.

The assassin of Field Marshal von Eichorn was a lad of 23. He declared at the inquiry held after the crime the advice state that he came from the province of Ryazan, adjacent to Moscow, on orders from a communist committee, to kill the field marshal. He reached Kiev yesterday.

NATION EXPECTS NEW ENERGY FROM RAILWAY EMPLOYEES

Washington, July 31.—Railway employees were told today by Director General McAdoo in announcing details of the wage-increase for more than 500,000 shippers, that the nation expected new energy from the workers in return for pay-increases and improvements in employment conditions and that strikes and other labor disturbances must be eliminated during the war.

"In reaching the conclusion upon which this order is based," said the director general, "I have been keenly conscious not alone of the interests of the large number of railway employees who are greatly benefited thereby, but also of my solemn duty to the American people to see to it that the trust they have committed to me is discharged faithfully, with justice to them as well as to the railroad employees concerned. No right decision can be made which considers only the demands and interests of any class of men apart from the paramount interest of the public and the supreme necessity of winning this war."

Under the new wage order, principal features of which already have been announced, experienced shop men are to receive a minimum of 68 cents an hour, car men and second-class electrical workers, 58 cents an hour, with rates ranging from 48 to 54 cents for car men and second-class electrical workers with less advance are effective as of January depending on their length of service in the particular craft. Over-time, after eight hours, is to be paid at 1½ times the usual rate, and pay men and molders.

Piece-workers are to receive not less than the minimum allowed hourly workers.

The order affects machinists, boiler-makers, blacksmiths, sheet metal workers, electrical workers, car men and molders.

WILL ASSIST IN TRAINING OF THE GUATEMALAN ARMY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Guatemala City, July 31.—The French military mission sent to this country to assist in the training of the Guatemalan army has arrived. Guatemala has an army of about 35,000 men and when that country joined the ranks of the entente allies in April the event was looked upon as one that would give important aid in the struggle against Germany.

CALL RESERVISTS INTO THE SERVICE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, July 31.—Orders have been issued by the navy department calling into active service thousands of reservists for duty on ships constructed under the shipping board and navy building programs. The exact number of men transferred to the active duty list was not announced but it was said today that every man for whom space existed in the training camps, has been summoned.

POSITIONS MAINTAINED BY AMERICAN TROOPS AFTER HEAVY FIGHTING

GERMANS ATTACK NEW ALLIED POSITIONS
AFTER HEAVY BOMBARDMENT, MAKING
FOUR ATTEMPTS, BUT WERE REPULSED AND LINES WERE MAINTAINED.

ENEMY STRONGHOLDS NORTH OF OURCQ RIVER IN GRAVE DANGER AS ALLIES PUSH FORWARD

French, British and American Troops East of Fere-en-Tardenois Have Driven Wedge Into German Line Which Will Compel a Hurried Hun Retreat—Advance of Allied Line from Soissons to Grand Rozoy Has Placed It in a Dominating Position—Important Ground Gained by Allies at Vital Points in Face of Repeated Attacks.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Paris, July 31.—American troops maintain their positions in the region of Seranges-en-Nesles which they carried after violent fighting, according to an official statement from the war office today.

The Germans made four attacks against the new French positions east of Ourcq-Le-Chateau. They were repulsed and the French line was held intact.

The French and the Germans carried out raids at a number of other points on sectors east and west of the Marne salient, but there was no change in the general situation at these points. The statement reads: "After a heavy bombardment the Germans attacked the new French positions east of Ourcq-Le-Chateau. Our troops repulsed four enemy assaults and maintained their lines intact."

"On the right bank of the Ourcq there were lively combats northeast of Fere-en-Tardenois. The village of Seranges-en-Nesles passed from hand-to-hand, but was finally taken by American troops in a counter-attack."

"A number of raids were made by the Germans near Meunille-St. Georges, west of Montdidier; in La Pretre wood on the right bank of the Meuse and in the Vosges. They were without result. Our troops made a successful incursion into the German lines northeast of Perthes-les-Hurlus (in Champagne) and brought back prisoners. The night was quiet on the remainder of the front."

GERMAN LINE IS GIVING WAY.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
With the American Army on the Aisne-Marne Front, July 31.—(Noon)—Efforts made by the Germans to advance their lines against the Americans on this front last night and this forenoon, were fruitless. The Americans for their part were content to hold their positions along their slightly-advanced line for the time. The German line, however, is reported gradually giving way both to the right and left.

There was hard fighting throughout the night, but no concentrated attack in force by either side.

CANNOT CHECK THE VICTORIOUS ONWARD RUSH OF ALLIED TROOPS.

(Compiled from A.-P. Dispatches)
In spite of the tremendous efforts put forth by the Germans to check the relentless pressure of the allies, north of the Ourcq river, today finds the German positions there in grave danger. French, British and American troops, fighting their way forward to the east of Fere-en-Tardenois, have driven a wedge into the enemy's line and means to be in a position to compel a hurried retreat from Roncheres and St. Gemme, at the extreme bottom of the salient between Soissons and Rheims.

The allied line today runs from Soissons to Grand Rozoy and then it begins to turn to the east. It passes just north of Fere-en-Tardenois and continues to the apex of the wedge at the village of Nesles, where it turns sharply south toward Roncheres. The allies' advance in this region seems to have placed them in a dominating position.

All around the salient there has been a continuous battle during the last two days, with the Germans launching repeated counter-attacks against the allied lines. They have all failed and the allies have gained important ground at vital points.

Immediately south of Soissons and west of Rheims the German lines are strongly held, but enemy efforts to improve his position in the latter region have broken down.

There now seems to be little doubt that the Germans will retreat to the Vesle river as soon as possible, any possibility of making a stand north of the Ourcq being seemingly gone.

Against the new British positions at Merris, in the Lys salient, where the Germans were driven back by a surprise attack on Tuesday, there has been a heavy bombardment.

General von Eichhorn, the German dictator in Ukraine, has been assassinated at Kiev. It is stated that the situation in the new republic is extremely critical and that many arrests have been made. Von Eichhorn was the second German emissary to be slain in Russian territory since peace has been nominally established there. Count von Mirbach, the German ambassador at Moscow, was assassinated July 6 but Germany took no action against the Bolshevik government, holding that the assassination was inspired by entente allied agents who sought to involve Germany and Russia in new hostilities.

PRISONERS TAKEN.
(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, July 31.—The German artillery displayed considerable activity last night in the region of Merris, on the Flanders front, taken yesterday by the Australians, and in the Kemmel sector the war office announced today. It was also active on both sides of the Somme.

Prisoners were taken in raids and patrol encounters in the Lens region and north of Bethune.

The statement follows: "Several prisoners were captured by us during the night in successful raids and patrol encounters in the neighborhood of Lens, north of Bethune and on the northern sector of our front. A hostile raiding party was driven off by our fire southwest of La Bassée."

"The enemy artillery has been active on both sides of the Somme and has shown considerable activity about Merris and in the Kemmel sector."

FOCH'S OFFENSIVE BLOW TO THE GERMAN MORALE
(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, July 31.—The extent of the defeat suffered by the Germans as a result of General Foch's counter offensive and the consequent blow to the German morale, both in the army and at home, may be measured by the very great importance attached by German newspapers of the early part of June, copies of which have been received here, to the second German advance to the Marne and to the contemplations indulged in concerning the changed conditions as compared with 1914.

The papers lay stress especially upon the importance of the fact that the allied front between Rheims and Soissons had been penetrated. It is declared that the German front is an iron wall and that the allies had not enough troops for a counter movement.

CITY MANAGER CHOSEN.

NICHOLAS ROMANOFF.

Lofty ideals rarely attained, apparent good intentions seldom translated into action, and enlightened and progressive thought, that found expression more often in reaction and oppressive acts than in reforms, made the character and career of Nicholas Romanoff, deposed Emperor of Russia, a strange commingling of contradictions and inconsistencies.

Although personally, he seemed sincere, simple, straightforward, peace-loving, moderate and of benevolent intent, disliking hypocrisy or ostentation, a model husband and a tender father, yet it was often asserted that he ruled Russia in a reactionary spirit, was jealous of authority, aroused to action chiefly over trifles, that he was incapable of generosity or sympathy for the oppressed, subject to morbid moods during which he was capable of cruelty, was superstitious, vacillating and timid.

It was the same autocrat of all the Russias, who called the first great World's Peace Conference at The Hague, proclaimed the principle of international disarmament and distributed 20,000,000 acres of land among the Russian peasants, who also refused to limit the autocratic power of the emperor when appealed to by representatives of the Russian people, who suppressed the liberty of the press and denied liberty to the Finns. It was he who granted constitutional reform to Russia and then became a party to limitation of the constitutional rights of the representatives of the people. Though he dealt humanely in some respects with the nationalities suffered under his rule, the Jews, he withheld Russia from war with England and developed the Pan-Slavic Entente into a formal alliance, he yet allowed Russia to drift into war with Japan and when Russia drew her sword to halt the progress of German aggression, failed to prosecute the war with energy and is said to have preferred a German victory to liberal control of the Russian government.

The usual explanation of these contradictions between his characteristics and his policies, was that Nicholas was of benevolent disposition but weak in will, easily swayed by the reactionary forces of the Russian bureaucracy in which he was surrounded and which hampered and hindered the achievement of his own desires. Yet, under outside influence, he was capable of turning himself to strong determinations and firm action, such, for example, as his initiation of the movement to disarmament.

The empress, it was said, once caricatured him as a bald-headed infant, tied to a high chair, surrounded by a crowd of grand dukes and duchesses, each of whom tried to feed him in a different way with the result that the infant was distracted and dabbled in the food. This was regarded as a faithful portrayal of the emperor's position.

Nicholas, son and successor of Emperor Alexander III, was born at Petersburg May 18, 1868, was educated under the direction of Constantine Pobedonosteff, procurator general of the Holy Synod and received military training but had no personal tastes for soldiering. Before his accession to the throne, he was sent on a tour of Russia, Egypt, India, and Japan, where he narrowly escaped assassination by a Japanese fanatic. In that incident, he was said, the Russian heir apparent gave evidence of timidity.

He succeeded to the throne on November 1, 1894, at the death of his father and within a few weeks thereafter married Princess Alexandra Alix, afterward known as Alexandra Feodorovna, daughter of the Grand Duke of Hesse, by whom he had four daughters, the Grand Duchesses Olga, Tatiana, Marie and Anastasia, and one son, the Grand Duke Alexis, heir apparent to the Russian throne up to the time of his father's abdication. Emperor Nicholas' coronation feast, held in 1896, and a year later was attended by a festival in which 2,000 persons were trampled to death.

The autocratic rule of many millions of Russians was twenty-six years old when he succeeded to the throne. His lack of experience in the rough affairs of the world and the limitations of his early training in the secluded Russian court had failed to qualify him in any way to fill the role of an autocrat. In the end, he was found to be a firm hand he succumbed at once to the stupefying influences of the bureaucratic forces which dictated Russian policies.

He alienated the love and loyalty of the Russian people within a short time after his accession as Emperor by rebuking a delegation from the Russian Zemstvos who gathered at the Winter Palace in 1897 for the purpose of bringing a memorial in which they suggested that the law be enforced with equal justice to all and hinted at an extension of constitutional rights to the people. Prompted by Pobedonosteff, or other bureaucratic mentors, the emperor demanded these suggestions as idiotic dreams. From that time Nicholas was to a large extent under the control of his ministers. He had listened to the support of the Russian people which might have enabled him to assert himself in a conflict with the bureaucrats and imperial relatives who threatened him.

Five years after his accession to the throne, Nicholas started all Europe by calling in 1899 the first peace conference at The Hague to discuss the principle of disarmament and arbitration. Although it did not lead to the cessation of hostilities, it was the basis for hopes of men throughout the world of erecting a structure for the maintenance of peace.

The Russo-Japanese war was held largely responsible for the Russo-Japanese war on the ground that he permitted his favorites to develop the aggression in Manchuria and Korea which aroused Japan to hostilities. He was accused of hindering preparations for the war, and of appointing General Kuropatkin, his commander, but he is credited in some quarters with having by his firm insistence saved Russia from paying an indemnity to Japan after peace was proclaimed.

The constitutional reforms in Russia inaugurated by Nicholas were attributed to the growth of a democratic spirit among the Russian people and to internal dissensions caused by the revolution of 1905. Official incompetence and dishonesty in the war with Japan. A general strike in Petrograd in September, 1905, gave the emperor warning of the danger of a revolution and to prevent this, he issued in October a ukase promising a representative assembly and other reforms.

Election of radical dumas, as the Russian constitutional assembly is known, apparently aroused in Nicholas fears of what might develop from a popular government and they were soon prorogued. Restriction of suffrage resulted and a more conservative Duma was elected.

Adoption of a policy of fostering the development of Slav nationalities in the Balkans led Nicholas into a clash with Austria-Hungary and when the German emperor aligned himself beside Austria "in shining armor," Russian ambitions suffered a check. To what Nicholas dictated the policy of challenging Austrian aggressions upon Serbia which, led to the great war that began in 1914 is not revealed, but it is said to have insisted that Germany should not be permitted to awe Russia a second time.

Soon after the beginning of the war the Emperor proclaimed the autonomy of a reunited Poland and in this, as well as in his resistance to German aggression, he was in line with the development of Russian liberalism. After months of continuous disaster to the Russian arms, Nicholas took command of the Russian armies from Grand Duke Nicholas in September, 1915. His command, however, was regarded as only nominal.

Although the influences leading to the revolution of March, 1917, which forced his abdication, were various and some of them obscure, it was evident that the leaders of Russian liberalism thought blamed the emperor for failure to prosecute the war successfully, for continuing the rule of the bureaucrats and for the growth of a pro-German influence at the Russian court which were undermining Russia's war strength. There was a bitter struggle between the Duma and the reactionary party, a shortage of food, lack of army supplies, neglect of precaution and organization. Some of these were attributed by the liberal leaders to "dark forces" at court.

One of these for which the Emperor was held personally responsible was the mysterious power exercised by Gregory Rasputin, the mystic monk, who had obtained great ascendancy over both emperor and empress. One explanation was that Rasputin had fostered the emperor's mind by deception, the belief that the health of his only son, the Grand Duke Alexis, depended upon Rasputin's good offices and presence at court. Protests against the monk's power and presence, and against the mysticism and superstition that enveloped the Russian throne, were suppressed. The resentment culminated in the murder of Rasputin and was fanned to renewed flame by the honors paid him after death, including burial in a chapel on the grounds of the emperor's palace at Petrograd.

The government had ordered the dissolution of the Council of the Empire and the Duma. The hungry people were incensed by lack of food supplies and held the government responsible for their sufferings. The Emperor rejected the imperial ukase of dissolution, continued its meetings and organized an executive committee. It was believed to represent the demand of the people that the war should be prosecuted with greater vigor and efficiency. The troops in Petrograd sustained the Duma and within three days from its inception to revolution was accomplished, the government overthrown and Nicholas forced to abdicate.

The emperor was then at the Russian army headquarters. He attempted to transfer the throne to his brother, the Grand Duke Michael, but he refused, abdicated and the Romanoff dynasty which had ruled the destinies of the Russian empire for more than 300 years was brought to an end. The order of the executive committee of the Duma, Nicholas, who has signed his abdication at midnight, was arrested and taken to Tsarskoe-Selo Palace, which was to be his prison, and he was placed under guard. He delivered a farewell address to his people, which he listened unresponsively and, its conclusion, sang the Marseillaise.

Nicholas was stunned by the suddenness of the blow and made no attempt to resist. He rejected the suggestion of one of his generals that the Russian line be opened to the Germans pass through and "deal with the Canaille in Petrograd," declaring that he might be permitted to live at his palace at Livadia, in the Crimea, where he loved to stroll with the empress among the flowers and woods. Instead he was taken prisoner to the Petrograd palace where the other members of the former imperial family had gathered to share his imprisonment. At first the former emperor was not closely confined but was allowed to walk in the garden twice a day under a guard of soldiers. His chief occupation in the first weeks of his imprisonment was in shovelling snow on the garden walks. He seemed to be in good health, displayed interest in what the foreign newspapers printed about him but was said to have periods of crying.

His state as prisoner must have been in painful contrast with that which he enjoyed as Russian autocrat. His private wealth had been estimated at $2,000,000,000, but it was confessed that no accurate idea of its vastness was obtainable. His income was believed to exceed $50,000,000 a year. His personal expenses were placed at $50 a day, but the expense of maintaining the royal state were almost incredible.

When emperor he was classed as the most wealthy man in the world. He owned several of the world's most beautiful palaces and possessed a great fortune in diamonds, pearls and other jewels and precious stones. He owned more than a million square miles of cultivated land and forests. One-third of the output of Russia's gold and silver mines was believed to be included in his income. At Petrograd he was housed magnificently in the colossal Winter Palace but at times the imperial family resided in some of the other magnificent establishments or chateaus where he and the empress loved to hold court. It was reported that he gave $100,000,000 from his private treasury to Russia's war fund.

In appearance Nicholas was rather slender and undersized and being sensitive on that point, usually occupied the foreground when a photograph was being made so that his size would be exaggerated. His resemblance to King George of England was often remarked. He was blond and wore a full brown beard. Having no desire for ostentation, he avoided crowd and pomp when possible and carried no arms or bluster. Although as Emperor he was head of the Orthodox Greek church, both he and his wife were reported to have been spiritualists, and it was said of whom often consulted mediums some of whom obtained considerable influence over him. His outdoor pleasures were a mild sort such as boating, cycling, sketching or playing tennis of which he was very fond.

By some Nicholas was regarded as a weak man.

HISTORY on a phonograph record! At the height of the great offensive in Picardy, while two million Germans surged toward Amiens and the Allies fought desperately to hold the lines, General Pershing sent his own voice across the water to America. At American Headquarters in France, this grim, iron-gray man spoke with crisp, soldierly brevity, into the horn of a recording instrument a message to the mothers, wives, fathers, children of the men who are fighting there with him on the shell-torn fields of France. Is there a home in all this great land that will not want to listen to the voice of our boys' commander?

A fac-simile of General Pershing's famous signature appears on every one of these records.

On the Other Side of this Record Ambassador Gerard speaks on "Loyalty"

Gerard—the man the Kaiser couldn't bluff; known to millions for his fearless Americanism, his splendid action in the face of emergency—in his own ringing voice, tells what true loyalty is. He talks for four minutes and his words are history. To hear them, long years after the war, will bring again to your heart the surge and thrill of these wonderful days.

This historic record of the voices of Pershing and Gerard is the first of a series of records by the world's great leaders to be issued by the Nation's Forum as a weekly service. Each is a graphic, intimate bit of history—in the living voice of the man who is making that history today.

SMILED AS SHE WEPT

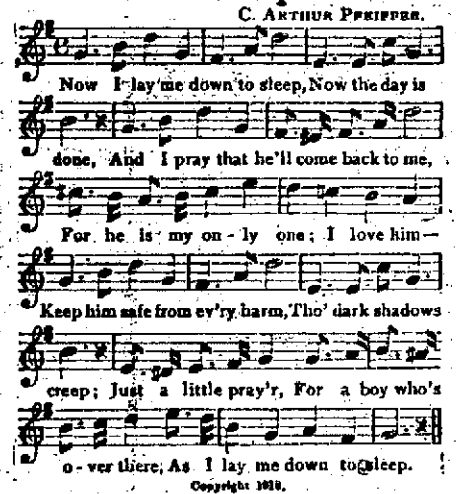

Beautiful Story of a Girl's Loyalty and Love.

Kneeling at the foot of her bed in the act of prayer, a shell recently burst into an English home, shattering it. The trembling girl fled into the night, smiling as she wept, with a vow of vengeance, for her sweetheart was already in the battle lines.

A beautiful song by C. Arthur Pfeiffer, a Western writer, has just been written upon the theme. Here is the chorus:

Now I Lay Me Down To Sleep.

Altho' out only a few quicks the song is said to be the quickest hit known in many years.

Peculiar Experience On Auto Trip In Estes Park

A popular school teacher who recently returned from Colorado, tells of her experience on a 150 mile trip in an open auto in Estes Park. Says she was wearing a rubber thin and did not think she would need any protection except to the exposed part of arms, neck and face, which she had covered rather thickly with Vaseline vanishing cream and face powder. But on returning, found she was sunburned almost to a blister on shoulders, neck and arms under her waist without even a trace of sunburn or tan on face, neck and arms that were exposed. SO NERVOUS HE HAD TO HOLD CUP IN BOTH HANDS

But Now, Thanks to Nerv-Worth, the Veteran, J. R. Walters Nerves Are Steady.

This comes from an old soldier of the Civil War. It's the battle message to all veterans. Every day a new Nerv-Worth endorsement from some well-known user of this wonderful family tonic. Here's the latest:

"Was troubled with stomach ills for 35 years. Case diagnosed as cancer. Doctored with best physicians, but received no benefit. Did not get relief until I tried Nerv-Worth which to my surprise took immediate effect and have not been bothered since. Was very nervous. This has also left me." J. H. Walters, "Cottage Hill, S. & S. Home, Sandusky, O."

Druggist W. H. Graham, Nerv-Worth distributor in Sandusky, adds to the above statement, that Mr. Walters declared he had been so very nervous before taking Nerv-Worth he had to hold his coffee cup to his lips with both hands, but that the use of Nerv-Worth had made his hands steady.

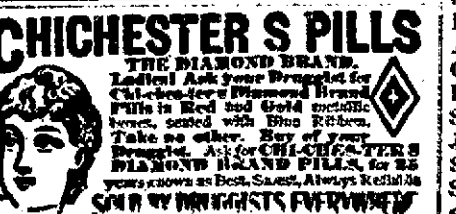

T. J. Evans sells Nerv-Worth in Newark. Your dollar back if benefits do not follow its use. Neighborhood agencies: C. S. Howard, Johnstown; Hebron Drug Store, Hebron; Utica Drug Store, Utica; W. P. Ullman, Granville. 7-29-31 (Adv.)

Dehydration Principle in Food Is Satisfactory Aid to Conservation

Three methods of drying fruit and vegetables. (1) The gas oven is an ideal drier, the ventilation is perfect. (2) Drier made according to Government specifications. (3) Over head rack filled with vegetables which dry from surplus heat passing up from the stove.

The principle of dehydration particularly as applied to fruits has been known throughout the ages; but application of that principle in a thoroughly satisfactory way is a very recent development. Dehydrated foods are natural products from which the water only has been removed. If the water is restored the product returns to a condition so closely approaching that of the fresh that when cooked it is in all essentials comparable with the fresh. No chemicals are needed in the new process—no sulphur to bleach or dye to imitate the natural color.

CITY'S FIRST AND LAST FALL

Jericho's Siege and Capture One of the Spectacular Stories of the Old Testament.

On the morning of Washington's birthday Gen. Sir E. H. Allenby's Australian troopers rode as conquerors into a little village of huts, noted geographically as being the city of lowest elevation on earth, and in Biblical history as being the scene of the Promised Land, observes the Minneapolis Journal.

In the Canaanite days Jericho was a fortified city, commanding both the lower ford of the Jordan and the route leading up to the highlands of Judea. The story of its siege and capture and the destruction of its population is one of the spectacular stories of the Old Testament, which contrasts strongly with its gentle seizure by a Christian army in a year of our Lord thirty-five centuries later.

According to the Old Testament story, the city was left desolate with a curse from Joshua upon the man who should attempt to rebuild it. And it is related that Hiel, the Bethelite, who did rebuild it, lost his two sons in the construction of the wall as punishment for his temerity.

It was at Jericho that Joshua instituted his campaign of righteousness upon his enemies; and it was on the Jericho road leading up to the Judean highlands that Jesus laid the scene of the story of the Good Samaritan who gave first aid to a wounded enemy. The advance from Joshua to Jesus in the human ideal of duty toward one's enemies is the very measure of the spread between the ideals of Hindenburg and Allenby on the same question.

This war is fundamentally a conflict between the ideals of modern brotherhood and ancient overlords; and nowhere is the contrast more noteworthy than in this little village of Jericho, where the people today are safer in the hands of their enemies than they were under the rule of their own people. The world, with the exception of Germany and Turkey, has traveled a long way between the two falls of Jericho.

ROMEO WAS CLAD IN KHAKI

Played the Popular Game, Choosing the Dinner Table to Work on Affection of Waitress.

It is natural that we should be eager to do whatever we can for the boys in khaki; but sometimes, when the patriotic zeal is not accompanied by a sympathetic imagination, the beneficiary may pay to be delivered from our friends, writes "An American Woman" in the Outlook. A homesick lad is likely to want either an atmosphere like that of his own home or else the exotic flavor the expectation of which has helped him to undertake the great adventure so cheerily.

In one family among my neighbors the son of the house was scandalized when one of their guests at Sunday dinner made the perfectly simple and natural request that he be permitted after the meal to repair to the kitchen where the pretty waitress was. Permission was denied, but young Romeo was not discouraged, and this letter came: "To the Girl That Waits for Mrs. So-and-So: You are the best ever. Are you keeping company with anybody?" He added his name and a few personal details, and this delicious bit of identification: "If you don't know which soldier wrote this, it is the one that touched your hand under the dish when you passed the potatoes."

Russia a Puzzle Even to Tolstoy. "How can one understand chaos?" is the reply Count Ilya Tolstoy, son of the famous Leo Tolstoy, writer, philosopher and mystic, made to the question as to his interpretation of conditions in Europe.

If such a man as Count Tolstoy is at sea to regard to Russian affairs, it is surely pardonable for Americans to be in ignorance of them. The count says that the real Russia has not been consulted at all in the recent changes there. The real Russia is peasant Russia and peasant Russia has been ignored. The count pleads for American sympathy for his people, who, he says, have been deceived and misled. "The crime of all the Russian leaders," he says, "is that they have been following their own programs and ignoring the peasants, the masses." What will come out of the present chaos the count professes he does not know.

Long Leaves Are Most Economical. A loaf weighing one pound contains 11 per cent of water if it is round and only 34 per cent if it is cylindrical. Therefore, she who buys long loaves gets 140 grammes more actual food for her money than she who buys round loaves.

The reason for this is that the sphere is the figure that contains the largest possible volume under the smallest possible surface, and as evaporation is a matter of surface, this is greater from a cylinder than it is from a sphere of the same weight.

Where Thomas Yale Rests. In the new American army there are many officers whose alma mater is Yale college, and some of them regard Wrexham, in North Wales, as a place of almost personal interest. For it is there that Thomas Yale, who inaugurated the great seat of American learning, was buried, and it is interesting to recall that in the early nineties a root of ivy from his grave was sent to Professor Phelps, formerly the American minister in London, to plant against the college building—London Chronicle.

The authorities here requesting all people who do not have to live in Washington, to leave before September 1, are taking the form of a command. Air Plants.

In some parts of Mexico "air plants" abound. These curious growths are never attached to the soil in any way, but rely for their moisture on the atmosphere. One kind, known as "Spaniard's Beard" (Tillandsia usneoides), attaches itself to telephone wires. Very often the growth becomes a positive nuisance, and it is necessary to send men to clear it away. The "Spaniard's Beard" has no proper leaves, and in appearance is simply a mass of green gray threads.—Wide World.

MEETING TUESDAY OF THE TRUSTEES OF WICK TOWNSHIP

The Township Trustees hold their their office, and the convention room of the court house. Numerous appeals were ordered paid. Two relief cases were before the board; both were given aid.

One of these cases, a touchingly pathetic one, was that of a widow bent with the weight of seventy-six years and incessant toil. In former days she enjoyed fairer fortunes and had a husband and happy home on the beautiful countryside where the voices and laughter of children made sweet a life of toilsome years. Years ago both husband and children were taken from her by the Grim Reaper, and this, together with poor health and financial reverses, has reduced her to a state that appeals to sympathy and hearty hearts. The trustees always kind to the needy, try their utmost to make life pleasant for her.

The subject of good roads is one particularly dear to the hearts of the trustees. In God's grace the original good roads men in Licking county. Backed by a strong public sentiment, they are making an earnest effort to make the roads of Newmark township the best, not in Licking county—they are already the best in Ohio.

Let every one talk good roads, on every possible occasion and let your talk be backed by a liberal donation.

One of these cases, a touchingly pathetic one, was that of a widow bent on saving the life of seventy-six years old and incessant toll. In former days she enjoyed fairer fortunes and had a beautiful countryside where the voices and laughter of children made for her a sweet song of life. Years ago she and a companion in the country taken from her by the Grim Reaper and this, together with poor health and financial reverses, has reduced her to a state that appeals to sympathetic hearts. The trustees always kind to the needy, will try their utmost to make life pleasanter for her.

The subject of good roads is one particularly dear to the hearts of the trustees; in fact they are three of the original good roads men of Licking county. Backed by strong public sentiment they are making an earnest effort to make the roads of this county better than the best, and in Licking county—the best is already that—in Central Ohio.

Let every one talk good roads, on every highway, and the trustees will be backed by a liberal donation.

E. T. Algoe, administrator of the estate of Charles T. Algoe, filed a petition in the Probate Court of the C. C. & St. L. Ry. Co., and the R. & O. R. Co., in common pleas court on Monday, May 12, 1913, against the C. C. & St. L. Ry. Co., and the R. & O. R. Co., saying that his son, Charles T. Algoe, was driving an automobile across the tracks in Hatesboro, and the machine was struck by a passenger train, and that the defendants with carelessness, because there was no method of warning people approaching the tracks, and that the train was going at a rate of thirty miles an hour, and the watchman was not at his post of duty at the time of the accident. Plaintiff says that it was solely on account of the negligence of the defendants that the machine was struck, the result being that Charles Algoe was thrown out of the machine and that it was because of the injuries sustained. Plaintiff states that he has been damaged to the extent of $20,000 and asks judgment in that amount.

Marvin L. Spicer filed a petition against the same companies, stating that he was driving an automobile at the time, and that he was thrown from the machine due to the carelessness of the defendants, and that he was injured, and that it was because of the injuries, and suffers continual pain. He asks judgment in the sum of $20,000.

ASKS DAMAGES OF $20,000 FOR DEATH OF SON IN ROAD CROSSING

E. T. Algoe, administrator of the estate of Charles T. Spicer, filed a petition for damages against the P. C. C. & St. L. Ry. Co., and the R. & O. L. R. Co., in common pleas court at Newark, Ohio, this morning.

Charles T. Algoe, was driving an automobile across the tracks in Pataskala, Ohio, at the time that a passenger train, Plaintiff charges, crossed the tracks carelessly, because there was no method of warning approaching trains that the train was going at a rate of 70 miles an hour, and the watchman was absent at his post at the time of the accident. Plaintiff says that it was solely on account of the negligence of the defendants that the minor administering his son, being that Charles Algoe was thrown out of the machine, and died as a result of the injury sustained. BOARDS OF HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION COUNCIL OF LOCAL DEFENSE

Many of the physical defects which caused the rejection of one-third of the male coming up for examination in the first draft are believed to date from slight trouble neglected in early childhood. The health and physical education board has issued only one pamphlet in relation to the physical condition of children.

The height and weight and their development of a young child's health and development. For instance, when a child is strikingly below the average weight for his height or strikingly small for his age, it indicates that expert advice about diet and daily care is needed. The weighing and measuring tests make it plain to parents that the physical condition of their children needs special attention.

In order to get sugar the grocers were asked to estimate the amount needed for their trade, which they did.
But the amount was cut one-third.
Many of them have cut out the supply, and although the wholesale houses have some sugar, the grocers cannot obtain it until they procure their cards from the state department.
The wholesale house is under the same obligation to the state department that the grocer is to the consumer.

INJURED MAN WAS NOT A BROTHER OF
MRS. COOPERIDER
In one of the latest lists of casualties of the army appeared the name of Lieutenant Charles A. Dean of Chicago. Mrs. Oren E. Cooperider of Franklin township states it is not her brother.

Her Brother, who is President of the National and Central Amateur Athletic Union, is a reserve ensign in the United States Navy, he having at the outbreak of the war volunteered his services although past draft age.

Mr. Dean is a member of the Illi-

GETS INCREASE; WILL REMAIN
Sandusky, July 31.—George M.
Zimmerman, who in June tendered his resignation as city manager, effective August 1, decided to remain when the city commission increased his salary from $2,600 to $3,000 a year.

Patriotic ambition is the yeast that causes a private to rise from the ranks.

TO TAKE CONTROL OF WIRE SYSTEMS

Washington, July 31.—Postoffice officials continued their conferences today with representatives of telephone and telegraph companies in preparation for taking over control of the wire systems at midnight tonight. First Assistant Postmaster General Koon said today that no changes would be made for the present at least and that the various companies would continue to be operated by the present officials under supervision of a special committee created in the postoffice department.

Neither the Western Union Telegraph company or either of the telephone companies had received word from Washington up until 2 o'clock this afternoon, regarding any changes in the local office, and the management of same will be continued as heretofore.

BRAKEMAN IS KILLED.
Alliance, July 31.—Thomas Willey, aged 35, brakeman on the Pennsylvania railroad was killed yesterday near Columbus by an eastbound passenger train. His home was in Hopkinsville, Ky.

First Work of Enameling.
About the year 206 B. C., in the beginning of the dynasty of Han, some Chinese workers in earthenware set their pots in an oven to bake and forgot them. When they remembered them and opened the oven doors they found that the pots were vitrified in shining spots. In this way the process of enameling porcelain was discovered.
When freed of its dross the substance grew lighter, became clear and acquired a grain as fine and smooth as velvet, and a thin, hard, translucent body that rang like a bell.

Valuable Cement.
A cement for making repairs on switchboards when iron or other metal has to be fastened to marble may be made from 30 parts plaster of paris, 10 parts iron filings and half a part sal ammoniac. These are mixed with acetic acid to form a thin paste.
It is imperative that this cement be used immediately after it has been mixed.

ONE WAY AMERICAN SOLDIERS SIGNAL

These soldiers are operating what is known as the visual signaling system. The soldier standing flashes signals by pulling the string on an arrangement somewhat similar to an ordinary window blind. An observer at the support station in the rear of this advanced position catches the flashes with the aid of a telescope, such as the other soldier in the picture is using.

AMUSEMENTS

GEN.
"The Disciple," written by S. Barrett McCormick and Thomas H. Ince, will be presented at the Gem theatre Thursday. This is not only remarkable as a play, but also as a putting forth the favorite star, Wm. S. Hart.

A western plot that holds the interest of spectators tensely from beginning to the close characterizes this story. A frontier missionary (Wm. S.
Hart) after conquering at the point of a revolver the hostility of the sav-agery to religion and building his church, "splits with God" because his wife elopes with a villain. Hardy, ex-physician and the village saloon keeper. With his little daughter he goes to the mountains and takes up a new life. But the child falls ill of mountain fever. Just at this time Hardy finds it necessary to return to the village.
Mary returns with him and in a violent storm comes to her husband's cabin. Houston takes her in for the only physician who can save the child. The child's life is saved. Mary, forced to make her choice between the missionary and Hardy, joins toward the child and goes to its bedside.

AUDITORIUM.
Large crowds saw John Mason and Alma Hanlon in "The Libertine" at the Auditorium yesterday. The story of a girl who is lured from the honest love of a sweetheart to accept the luxury of a wealthy libertine, is certainly not new to our screen of today, but it can be truly said that in this offering we get enough human interest and interesting plot to make it hold the interest from start to finish and it sure did yesterday at this theatre. The story is not new, but the Scene from Peck's Bad Boy.

merit of the offering is to be found in the way it was done by the director, Julius Rosen. The story is not new,
but the characters are kept human,
they are made to do things which ordinary humans do, and an interesting atmosphere has been provided for the various incidents. The girls running away from her engagement story is made to seem logical, since we are shown enough viewpoint to see why she does it, and the subsequent development is worked out in a manner which appealed to the large crowds present. The producers gave it some excellent camera work, the lighting is good and the lightings wonderful.
Alma Hanlon, as the girl, made a decided impression. Her work is good and we look for big things from this young lady. John Mason, known to the stage as well as sufficiently reputative to make his character distinctive, although at times the writer thought he was inclined toward a bit mechanical and "stagey." Walter Hitchcock, as Mason's friend, was quite satisfactory, although in a few of his scenes he does overplay. Others in the cast are Marie Alexander, Edward Langford,
Jean Stuart, Doris Sawyer, and others.
The last shows seen this evening and every parent-child etc., should see this one.

Peck's Bad Boy.
The "boom-shell of joy," "Peck's Bad Boy," the big musical comedy, comes to the Auditorium Saturday night with a matinee and evening performance.
This famous comedy as offered by Mr. Charles Bonner, who has surrounded himself with a clever singing and dancing company, proved one of the big winners last season and 37,000 people from the pen of that prolific writer Irving Berlin, new dances arranged by George Altheim, well known dance director, also a new setting will be seen this season. Seats go on sale Thursday with prices placed within reach of all. Seats are matinee to be 10c and evening, the admission being placed at 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults, with the war tax added.

"The Key of the Righteous."
The Auditorium tomorrow and Friday presents that fascinating Australian screen star, Enid Bennett, who is seen in "The Key of the Righteous," a Paramount feature directed by Jerome

Storm, under the supervision of Thos.
Hart. This is one of the most personally popular stars of screen and boasts a wide assortment of real friends as well as those who know and love her through her screen work. The story of "The Key of the Righteous" is laid in Wisconsin and deals with the struggle of pretty Mary Manning to keep together a family composed of a crusty old father, a mother who is a fortune teller, her invalid mother for marrying his son, a drunken doctor, and one kindly uncle, almost her only friend. (The other friends, however, in handsome young Tom (Jack), a lumber cruiser, who stands by through thick and thin.
The picture is being shown at the Auditorium and the Wisconsin woods.

Auditorium Notes.
Julian Eltinge comes to the Auditorium next week in the Paramount feature "The Widow's Might," a story that will please the audience picture fans. The story tells of a young ranchman trying to get evidence from landed gentlemen who in discovery of his escape by female disguise. His good looks in petticoats make trouble between self and 200, but he wins girl and shows up gambler in the end.
Mrs. Penber positively promises a comedy world while in the Paramount feature "The Key of the Righteous," "The Blighted Love," which will be shown at the Auditorium on next Sunday and Monday. It is said to contain all the "Actual blood tests show that a tremendously large number of people who are weak and ill lack iron in their blood and that they are ill for no other reason than a lack of iron," says Dr.

Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital.

It is through lack of iron in the red coloring matter of the blood that life-sustaining oxygen enters the body, and enables the blood to change from living muscle and brain. Lack of sufficient iron in the blood has ruined many men's nerves and utterly robbed him of that virile force and stamina which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life.

"Therefore I strongly advise those who feel the need of a strength and blood builder to get a physician's prescription for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—or if you don't want to go to this trouble, then purchase only Nuxated Iron in its original packages and see that this particular name (Nuxated Iron) appears on the package. If you failed to get results, remember that

SUMMER OUTING OF ROTARY CLUB AT WHITE FARM

One of the most enjoyable of the summer outings was held yesterday by the members of the Rotary club at the White home in the Hebron road. The spacious grounds, with the water running through them, made the spot ideal for the picnic.

Miss Mary Sherwood Wright, received the prize for being the bravest and most daring in crossing the creek. Prof. O. J. Barnes was awarded the prize for the most original answer to the question "why he married his wife," and little Miss Mary Pugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. An appetizing picnic luncheon was served the members and their families and the trip was made in machines

WOMEN WHO FASCINATE

The art of fascination and attractiveness in women is founded on good health. Women who drag through long hours, days, weeks and sometimes months of suffering with headaches, backache and dragging-down pains soon wear the tell-tale expression of woe and misery. If every such woman would only turn to that good old-fashioned root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, to alleviate such ailments it would surely prove the greatest aid to health and consequent beauty that she has ever known.

PATRIOTIC MEETING TOMORROW EVENING AT HIGH SCHOOL

If you have any doubt in your mind as to why America is in this war against Germany, that doubt will be absolutely dispelled tomorrow night if you attend the Victory Celebration at the High school auditorium. Doors will be open at 7 o'clock and Lemert Post, Grand Army Republic will take you "Over the Top" with them at 8 o'clock when Private Thompson, a Michigan boy of the American Legion, Canadian Army, just back from the trenches will smash over in thrilling manner a fact war story message that will bring out the fighting spirit of every man and woman of Licking county.

An empty sleeve tells eloquently what Private Thompson has sacrificed physically in Liberty's cause. Wounded several times and told by the surgeons that he could not live more than eight months with his wounds, his indomitable fighting spirit has triumphed over physical weakness and he will be with us in Newark tomorrow evening telling us just why we should lend every effort to beat the Hun.

Private Thompson has seen long grueling service with the American Legion taking part in front line trenches at Ypres, Somme and other places, finally having his arm torn off at Battle of Messines Ridge. Thompson will stick to facts without exaggeration in the war narrative he will relate, as he says the facts needs no exaggeration to arouse you in crushing such murderous cruelty out of the world. The admission is free to this certainly opportune time patriotic event rightly scheduled for Thursday night.

Readers' Viewpoint

The question is often asked by prominent people why the court bell is never rung for court any more, for over a year, and never rung on public occasions? Are the county commissions afraid the bell-clapper, or rope, will wear out too fast, or what is the object? The bell is never rung any more. Is the bell going to rust out and the taxpayers must have to buy a new bell again? voice the public sentiment to have the bell rung for court, national holidays and public occasions when necessary.

A Taxpayer.
Will service director please investigate why the street car light at the intersection of Second and Baker streets has not been in operation for over a week? It rarely is not on account of the moonlight schedule.

A SHELBY NEWSPAPER COMMENTS ON THE GAS RATE RAISE

The Shelby Globe, under date of July 29, has the following to say of the gas company's forced raise in rates to consumers:

"Patrons of the Logan Natural Gas & Fuel company, were notified of a 16 per cent. raise in the price of gas and considering conditions the vast majority of the company's patrons are inclined to believe that the gas company has been very fair with them. The fact of the matter is Shelby people feel that the company has treated them very fair for years. The customers recall that during six months of 1903-1904 during the winter months, the company charged them 25 cents per 1000 cubic feet, when their franchise permitted them to charge 30 and 33 cents. In 1912, when the rate ordinance expired the company did not ask for an advance in rate more than a minimum—charge equal to 2000 feet. Even after that concession was granted the company December 26, 1912, the city solicitor was advised by the company that they would annual that charge until some future date, and it never was put into effect under that ordinance.

"The slight raise of the present schedule representing 16 per cent, is met with comment from various angles due to the fairness of the company in former years. The overhead expense of the gas company in material most needed in promoting and developing gas fields has increased 101 per cent. And so far as the Globe man can ascertain, the majority of our people feel that the company has been very fair and just in the slight advance they have made."
